PROGRAM:

PROGRAM AREA: Elimination/reduction of stereotyping or discrimination.

AUDIENCE: Elementary

DESCRIPTION: Billy Barty, founder of Little People's Foundation, visited Telfair Elementary School in Pacoima, Ca. to address the student body about dwarfism as one particular student who was a dwarf was having difficulty with peer relations. Mr. Barty shared personal experiences about dwarfism as a child and an adult. As a result of this presentation, the dwarf student was treated more positively by other students. Also, as a result of media coverage, the child, his mother, and the counselor, Mr. Hall, and the student's brother appeared on a local show called Cara A Cara. The show's goal was to increase awareness in the Hispanic community about the human rights of dwarfs. In addition to the above, A medical doctor from UCLA who specializes in short stature also appeared. As a result of the presentation and the subsequent media coverage, the student's self esteem was enhanced and the community as a whole became more accepting of the child.

PROGRAM: Christmas Around the World

PROGRAM AREA: Elimination/reduction of stereotyping or discrimination; cultural awareness; new immigrants.

AUDIENCE: elementary

DESCRIPTION: The student council at College Wood Elementary School, (12 fifth grade students) presented a lesson on December 1st for each grade level. Each grade level was assigned a different country, including Holland, Italy, Mexico, American traditions, Japan, and Hanukkah. Council members presented activities dealing with human rights awareness and Christmas traditions for each country. The teachers were left with a complete package of ideas to continue the project through out the month. The cafeteria cooperated and served "foods from around the world" as a lunch project. Students were able to select from three state approved lunches. Both of these activities were coordinated and presented on December 1st for Human Rights Day.

PROGRAM: Human Rights - Everyone Is Special

PROGRAM AREA: Elimination/reduction of stereotyping or discrimination

AUDIENCE: Middle school students

DESCRIPTION: This program was used to celebrate Human Rights Week at Custer Baker Middle School in Franklin, Indiana. A proclamation was read and explained by a member of the Student Council over the public address system as well as announcing a daily "Good Thought". The "Good Thoughts" sayings and posters were also prominently displayed on a bulletin board in the cafeteria. Additionally, Custer Baker's "Word of the Week" for the month of December were coordinated with Human Rights. An example of a word used was reconciliation. The counselors also sponsored along with a cultural promotion group, YOUNG AUDIENCES OF INDIANA, a program by the Naptown Jazz Quintet. The group performed a forty minute program for each grade level in the school with the emphasis of each program being the importance on individuality and respect for others.

PROGRAM: "Self Esteem: The Right of Every Child"

PROGRAM AREA: Self Awareness

AUDIENCE: K-12, parents, community and general public.

DESCRIPTION: This program consists of daily messages about self esteem that are to be read over the school intercom by different students throughout the school year, thus permitting students to deliver positive messages to their peers. Classroom guidance lessons on self esteem are also taught via heath lessons, and are incorporated in units on feelings and emotions. The goal is to show students the relationship between feelings and the learning process. This program also consists of monthly contests based on the messages given over the intercom. The first twenty-five students to return forms with all correct answers receive a certificate of recognition during the following schoolwide awards assembly. Lastly, a Human Rights Essay Contest is run in selected classes with students writing about human rights in regard to one's self esteem. This program concludes yearly with state wide assemblies on ASCA Human Rights Day.
